THE EVENING STAR.

WASHINGTON.

(ROSBY S. NOYES Editor

THE EVENING STAR has a regular and permanent circulation in Washington three times larger than that of any other paper in the city. As a local NEWS paper and Ad. any emergency-is entirely distinct from vertising Mediumit has no competitor.

It would seem as though the government of the United States ought to have had sufficient experience with miscalled "economy" in connection with the Old Ford's Theater building, and yet the Senate has appropriated the sum of $6,000 with which it is proposed to repair and make habitable that structure, of which now but little more than the walls remain standing. For some purposes $5,000 would be ample, but the idea that it is sufficient to erect an office building is so absurd that serious comment is almost impossible. The rear wall has not been safe at any time during the past twenty years, and that it is dangerously out of plumb now can be seen by even the inexpert. The other walls must have suffered from the shock caused by the breaking and falling of the floors-and suffered to such an extent that their use is, if safety is being sought after, entirely out of the question. Several suggestions have been made as to uses to which the site of two horrible disasters may be put. One proposition called for the removal of the walls and debris and the making of an ornamental parking in the middle of which should be some suitable memorial of the great President whose days were there cut short by the assassin's bullet. Another idea-and very much the better one-was the razing of the old structure and the building in its place of suitable shelter for the free public library which this city must sooner or later possess, and which, should it be so located, would doubtless be called the Lincoln Library. Either of these two plans would be much better than that which looks to reoccupation as an office building, but if Congress insists upon housing clerks in the place where so many illfated government employes were murdered by foolish thrift it should at least appropriate money sufficient to do the work properly. A six-thousand-dollar appropriation is simply nonsensical.

There is nothing sectional in the revival of business, now thoroughly under way. Every department of the great Carnegle steel plant at Homestead started yesterday, giving employment to more than two thousand men, and within three or four days fully five hundred others will find the work they have been seeking in the big mills. At Braddock nearly a thousand wire workers resumed labor at the old and they are getting more and more brief." satisfactory scale of prices, and in Pittsburg the Oliver Iron and Steel Company started all its furnaces going. The Riverside Knitting Mills at Little Falls, N. Y., are again turning out their product, while the Valley Falls Mill at Providence and the big rolling mill in the same place are again doing business just as though there had been no interruption. Other mills in Rhode Island are either starting today or will awaken during the present week. Down in Petersburg. Va., where the cotton mills have been idle for many weeks, there is once more profitable activity, and from a number of western business centers comes testimony to an improved and rapidly improving condition of affairs. Collections are much easier, and there is a satisfactory influx of orders. In every direction the financial sky is clearing. Soon there will be sunshine everywhere, and the country will tions, wonder why there ever was anything approaching to a panic in the summer of Organized labor was on exhibition yesterlay in many cities, and in no place was there anything approaching to even bols-terous conduct. The anarchistic element that of late has succeeded in effecting an entrance into many of the unions and as- O hush, callow lullaby singers and restcompelled to good behavior. The American flag was conspicuous in every parade and as spite of the fact that man, ave suffered by reason of business depression, most of the men who marched were well clad and presented indubitable evidence of satisfied appetite. Selfish agitators have been declaring for some time that organized labor was in a state of thorough and in many places dangerous discontent. The fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday's celebrations, the meyentful as so the fact that yesterday is celebrations and the fact that yesterday is celebrations. in spite of the fact that many of the trades lack of veracity common to those disturbers who are without the support of any moral principle.

From the south, and especially from that portion of it in the vicinity of Charleston and Savannah, comes a cry for help. The hurricane which caused so much damage in the cities named and almost depopulated many of the smaller islands just off shore did an enormous amount of harm, wiping away in a minute the accumulation of years. Within easy reach of Charleston there are not less than seven or eight thousand people who have little or nothing to eat, and at the same time are insufficiently clad. They need help and they need it now.

There is nothing unreasonable in the endeavors now being made by President Ran-kin of Howard University to secure from large straw in the direction of the gather-Congress an additional appropriation for the erection of a much-needed building in connection with the institution over which he presides. From the day when it first From the Kansas City Star. commenced to be a center of knowledge down to the present time, Howard University has done nothing but good, and that sity has done nothing but good, and that continually. It is deserving of support have $60. He, however, makes a fatal mismuch more liberal than any yet given it; a small investment there produces great re- bution.

that are supposed to add to the safe travel of those who patronize street cars does not seem to diminish in spite of the growth of inventive faculty. A defective brake caused at least five deaths in Cincinnati on Sun day evening, and there is no evidence to show that the life of an old and respected car which struck him been provided with a fender capable of doing a fender's duty. The shock of concussion was of course cosiderable, but it was not necessarily fatal: in fact, the probabilities are nearly unantmous that death was brought about by the crushing movements of a "riding" fender. That there are better fenders than those in use on our cable road is certain, and although there may be disagreement as to which of the better ones is the best there can be no question as to our local neceselty. Months ago the District Commissioners took this matter up and caused some investigation to be made, Surely by this time a device has been discovered which set will save the lives of those who are unfortunate enough to be thrown in front of a cable train. The fender that kills is neither decorative nor useful. By marvelous good fortune years have elapsed since there was TUESDAY September 5, 1893. last an accident in this city due to a defective brake, but continuous immunity is not probable. In very many towns the law provides that each car shall be equipped with an auxiliary brake, the mechanism of which-powerful and equal to almost that of the brake ordinarily used. If the lessons taught here and elsewhere fail to impress us then we are less sensitive as to the value of human life than any intelligent people should be.
